

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Academic integrity is taken seriously at George School and in the wider academic world. If you ever have a question about proper attribution of sources, just ask your teacher or a librarian.

From George School Handbook: Complete Volume, 2018-2019, page 22 of 74, August 6, 2018:

Acts of academic dishonesty (lying, cheating and plagiarism) undermine our community's values and harm others. Cheating is defined as the provision or use of unauthorized assistance in taking quizzes, tests, or examinations; in writing papers; in preparing reports; in solving problems; or in carrying out other assignments. Plagiarism is copying or imitating the language or ideas of another and passing it off as one's own work. The clearest form of plagiarism is copying someone else's work word for word, without using quotation marks or full and clear acknowledgment. Another form of plagiarism is paraphrasing without properly citing the source. Simply putting information in your own words does not make it your own. Students need to be particularly careful to not plagiarize when using Internet sources.
